

Dear colleagues, professors, researchers and students,

The Egyptian Society of Environment and Aquatic Animal Health (ESEAAH) which is located at the Department of Fish Diseases and Management, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine Cairo University will be holding its first annual workshop under the following theme: Impact of aquatic animal diseases on the aquatic environment: Health, Ecological and Epidemiological Perspectives. The workshop will start on July 10th and end by July 14th, 2011.

The following issues will be covered throughout the workshop:

1. Epidemiology and Diagnosis of Infectious Diseases of temperate and tropical Fin-fishes.
2. Emerging and Re-surgling infectious aquatic animal diseases: Global and Egyptian perspectives.
3. Aquatic Environmental toxicities : types, magnitudes, models and proposed control regimes.
4. Natural and biological control for toxic and infectious agents in aquaculture.
5. Proposed biosecurity strategies for Egyptian Aquaculture.
6. The use of Molecular tools in diagnosis of aquatic animal diseases.
7. Dynamics of aquatic environment and possible spread of epidemics and pandemics.
8. Evolution of the immune response in aquatic animals
9. Major Shellfish Diseases: Epidemiology and Diagnosis.
10. Impact of climatic changes on aquatic animal environment: global, regional and local perspectives.

The workshop will be lead and instructed by renowned experts in the field of fish diseases, aquatic animal health, aquatic animal epidemiology and environmental protection from Egyptian public and private institutes and universities.

Fees :

- 450 Egyptian pounds for Egyptian Colleagues
- 400 $ for Non Egyptians Colleagues
- 300 $ for Arabs and African Colleagues
- 300 Egyptian pounds for ESEAAH members
- 200 Egyptian pounds for Egyptian undergraduate students

For attendance please contact Dr. Alaa Eldin Eissa , the president of ESEAAH either by email at aeissa2005@gmail.com or cell phone at 0111185035.

Location of the workshop will be Fish Diseases Department auditoriums and College Conference Center.

Accommodation can be arranged upon request and on the expenses of the interested attendant.

Light breakfast snacks and light lunch box will be offered throughout the workshop days.

Deadline for registration will be June 25th , 2011.

Looking forward to see you all on July 10th.

Most cordially,

Alaa Eldin Eissa